Emoting the current state.

I feel trapped. Trapped in a concept, we call life. I wonder why we all play along, why we're hiding behind rules, morals, and regulations. We're all in this self-made mess together, we're part of it, we're responsible. As usual, short-termed, we 'treat the symptoms', we protect ourselves, cover-up in plastic, even if it is hard to breathe. What do we make out of it? Do we get to the bottom of things (root cause), and examine our (human) 'blind spots', our uncomfortable 'truths' extensively? Or do we just wait for it to pass and head back to 'normality'?
